Attn.: Graduate Nurse Residency Program

To Whom It May Concern:

Please accept this letter as an expression of my intent to be a considerable applicant for the New Graduate Residency Program Registered Nurse position you have available for your next residency cohort. I am scheduled to graduate from West Coast University with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing on 01/21/2024 and anticipate taking NCLEX sometimes in February/March 2024. I am currently looking forward to being considered for a position with your hospital system. It would be a pleasure and a great privilege to work with the ER or Medical Surgical RN at your hospital, as it is highly recognized for providing superior evidence-based care and outstanding satisfaction outcomes.

As you can see from my enclosed resume and my overall Nursing Professional Portfolio, my nurse internship and administrative experience, along with in-depth hands-on clinical experience, and an accomplished academic background make me a great candidate. My clinical rotations provided me with the opportunity to experience and explore different aspects of nursing and patient care. Through these experiences, I have developed a profound interest and passion for Medical Surgical and ER. During my rotations, I had the opportunity to provide total care for patients and supported them through nursing interventions. I collaborated with interprofessional healthcare team members to coordinate care and provide quality care to improve their condition. I was able to learn and fortify concepts and skills that are transferrable to other departments. My passion for nursing stems from my compassionate and caring nature, as well as my love for biological and health sciences. Through the application of my education and review of research, I will contribute to providing high-quality, holistic, and individualized, evidence-based care to patients.

As a future healthcare professional with a background in patient care, military, customer service, and administration, I strongly believe my educational background along with well-rounded background, and a strong nursing foundation correlates well with the qualifications needed to work as a Graduate RN.

The following are highlights of my qualifications:

- BSN Graduate – 01/21/2024; RN License (pending NCLEX)
- Quick-paced, driven learner with experience working with diverse populations.
- Organized, detail oriented, and skilled in analyzing data.
- Attentive, multitasking, and contributing team player.

I would love the opportunity to make a significant contribution to the excellent family and patient-centered care at Hospital Name. Thank you for your time and consideration. I hope to hear from you soon regarding the next steps in the interview process.

Sincerely,
